Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objectives and Strategies

This Fund seeks to maintain a high level of liquidity by investing in high quality Canadian money market instruments such as treasury bills, short-term government and corporate securities and deposit receipts of Canadian chartered banks and trust companies having a term to maturity not exceeding one year.

The fundamental investment objective of the Fund cannot be changed without the approval of a majority of the investors who own units in the Fund.

Risk

The risks of investing in this Fund remain as discussed in the Prospectus.

This Fund continues to be suitable for investors seeking a high degree of liquidity and interest income, with a low tolerance for risk and a short-term investment horizon.

Results of Operations

Money market yields increased very slightly over the six month period. 91-day T-Bill yields started the period yielding 0.52% at December 31, 2015 and finished at 0.49% at the end of June.

The Bank of Canada kept the overnight rate unchanged at 0.50% over the past six months. The Bank's latest monetary policy release was fairly neutral, noting that the Canadian economy's structural adjustment to the oil price shock continues, but is proving to be uneven. The Bank cautions to look through second quarter growth which is expected to be weaker than previously forecasted due to the Alberta wildfires. The Bank believes that financial conditions remain accommodative; however ongoing geopolitical factors are contributing to fragile market sentiment. Business investment and intentions remain disappointing to the Bank. The Bank notes that the Canadian dollar has been fluctuating in response to shifting expectations of U.S. monetary policy and higher oil prices. Core inflation close to 2% remains in the Bank's estimation, influenced by the offsetting measures of past exchange rate depreciation and excess capacity. Household vulnerabilities have moved higher reflecting a housing market that displays regional divergences. The Bank contends that the risks to the Bank's inflation projection remain roughly balanced.

For the six months ending June 30, 2016, the U.S. Federal Reserve maintained the Federal Funds rate in the 0.25-0.5% target range. It was a roller coaster ride for rate hike expectations during the latter half of the period. After the dovish tone to both Chair Janet Yellen's speech in late March and the Federal Reserve release in April, markets had priced in a near zero chance of a rate hike at the June meeting. Then, following the release of the FOMC Minutes from the April meeting that indicated that June is a possibility for a rate hike, coupled with a myriad of hawkish speeches from voting and non-voting members of the Federal Reserve, the implied probability of a June rate hike increased to approximately 34%. Then there was the release of the dismal employment figures for May which led expectations for a hike in June back down to zero. A pause is exactly what the Federal Reserve delivered in June, together with a fairly dovish press conference and lowered Fed Funds Rate projections.

The Beutel Goodman Money Market Fund saw its yield decrease from 0.91% over the first three months of the period, only to increase again in the latter three months to end the period at 0.92%. The average term was increased from 53 days to 70 days at end of June, and is shorter than its benchmark, the 91-day T-Bill. The quality of the Fund has remained consistent and only contains securities rated R-1 (low) or higher as per the Dominion Bond rating Service. We continue to have no exposure to ABCP.

Relative to its stated investment objectives and strategies, the Fund has maintained its quality and diversification standards.

Detailed performance is provided under the heading "Past Performance" in this report.

Recent Developments

On January 11, 2016, Derek Brown joined the firm as Senior Vice President, Fixed Income. He joins David Gregoris as co-lead manager of the Fund.

The markets have completely priced out any chance that the U.S. Federal Reserve hikes the Fed Funds rate in 2016. The strength in the U.S. trade-weighted dollar stemming from the declines in sterling and the euro will likely negatively affect the U.S. economy. The recent tightening of financial conditions will be of utmost concern to the Fed. While the Federal Reserve has finally entered its tightening phase, we believe that this phase will be unlike any other in history. First, this tightening phase will likely be, as indicated by the Federal Reserve, gradual and data dependent. The historical tightening model of recent experience under Chairs Greenspan and Bernanke whereby the Federal Reserve hiked 25 basis points each meeting until it reached its terminal rate is not a guide for Chair Yellen's Fed. As recent dovish actions and speeches have indicated, this will be a very cautious Federal Reserve tightening phase. Additionally, growth may be lower than we have experienced in the past due to secular trends such as demographics as well as global trade flows. This likely means that during this tightening phase, the administered rate will not likely increase as high as in previous recoveries and therefore duration and curve positioning will have to be adjusted accordingly. This will impact both the timing of future interest rate tightening as well as the magnitude.

Related Party Transactions

Beutel, Goodman & Company Ltd. is the Portfolio Advisor to this Fund. The Fund did not rely on any recommendation or approval of its Independent Review Committee to proceed with any transaction involving related parties because it did not conduct any related party transactions, except for certain inter-fund trades, as approved by the Independent Review Committee by standing instructions, and subject to regulatory requirements.

Fees and Expenses

The following table lists the fees and expenses that you may have to pay if you invest in the Beutel Goodman Managed Funds. You may have to pay some of these fees and expenses directly. The Funds pay the other fees and expenses. This will reduce the value of your investment in a Fund.

Management Fees: We are entitled to a management fee from each class of each Fund based on the average daily net asset value of the particular class. The fee is payable monthly, in arrears, and is calculated at the annualized rate specified for each class of each Fund below. Management fees for Class I units are negotiated and paid directly by the investor, not by the Fund, and, therefore, are not listed.

Fund	Class	Management Fees (%)⁽¹⁾
Money Market Fund	D	up to 0.50
Money Market Fund	F	up to 0.40

(1) Excludes GST/HST where applicable.

We may reduce our management fee for certain large investors who have substantial holdings in units of a Fund. To accomplish this, we reduce the management fee we charge to the Fund and the Fund pays out the difference to these investors as a special distribution. This is called a management fee distribution. We calculate and accrue the reduction daily and distribute it quarterly. The distribution is reinvested on behalf of such unitholders in additional units of the same class of the Fund. Management fee reductions for a unitholder may be increased at any time, but may only be decreased after at least 60 days prior written notice has been given to such unitholder.

We may waive our management fee in certain circumstances.

The Fund paid the Manager management fees, inclusive of HST, of $13,372 for the period ending June 30, 2016. The management fee for each class of unit is calculated as a percentage of its net asset value, as of the close of business on each business day. The Fund's management fees were used by the Manager to pay costs for managing the investment portfolio, providing investment analysis and recommendations, making investment decisions, making brokerage arrangements for the purchase and sale of the investment portfolio and providing other services. The Manager also used the management fees to fund commission payments and other dealer compensation (collectively called "distribution-related costs") to registered dealers and brokers and financial consultants, for units of the Fund bought and held by investors, which amounted to 31.39% of total management fees paid by the Fund to the Manager in 2015.

Operating Expenses: The Manager pays certain operating expenses of the Fund. These expenses include audit and legal fees; custodian and transfer agent fees; costs attributable to the issue, redemption and change of units, including the cost of the security holder record-keeping system; expenses incurred in respect of preparing and distributing all regulatory reports; fund accounting and valuation costs; and filing fees, including those incurred by us. In return, the Fund pays the Manager a fixed administration fee. The administration fee may vary by class of units and by Fund.

Please refer to the Financial Highlights section for the MERs of the classes of units.
